LITHOS QUARTZ SINKS

Contemporary kitchens exude their own distinct personality, mirroring the unique lifestyle and traditions of the people living there. A kitchen is said to be known as an epicenter that brings people together, where interactions and indulgence take place in various zones while performing different activities. Among the various zones in the kitchen, one of the most bustling ones is the sink center serving a range of functions like rinsing vegetables & fruits, chopping them for preparations and the most important one - cleaning the cookware and utensils. This underlines the significance of possessing a kitchen sink that seamlessly blends functionality with visual appeal, transforming mundane chores into effortless experiences.

Bringing forth the rising trend of incorporating quartz surfaces in the kitchen, Häfele launches its new sinks range - Lithos which means stone in Greek, aptly named to represent its inherent sturdiness, longevity and reliability. Engineered and composed of up to 80% coloured quartz stone grains, Lithos aims to provide an effortless transition between the sink center and the countertop, enabling a seamless design language in your kitchen.

The newly launched sink models under the Lithos range are manufactured in accordance with stringent European quality standards ensuring robust functionality. Häfele's Lithos Range of Quartz Sinks come with an antibacterial coating and an inherited resistance against scratches, stains and dirt, thereby requiring minimal maintenance. Additionally, they are resistant to high temperature that results in long-lasting endurance even if hot pans or utensils are kept on it.

The timeless beauty of these sinks is defined by the trendy shades that match seamlessly with the most preferred colour palette in the kitchen. Be it Obsidian which is a combination of deep black with hints of brown lending a unique personality to your kitchen or Truffle that is neither stark white nor imposing black, bringing an attractive and contemporary feel to your interior design or Ivory which is a timeless colour that redefines your home interiors with its astonishing minimalist shade or Mocha that brings the warmth of nature to your home with its earthy shade of brown imparting the right texture and tonality into your kitchen.

So embrace flawless kitchen aesthetics that reflect your impeccable taste and a commitment to quality that goes beyond the ordinary with Häfele's Lithos Range of Quartz Sinks.

| LITHOS QUARTZ SINKS RANGE: FEATURES

Reliable Quality

Essentially made with quartz, a material that is known for its inherent strength and durability, these sinks are produced as per stringent European quality standards and technical guidelines defined by Häfele.

Resistance to High Temperatures & Thermal Shock

Lithos sinks are heat as well as thermal shock resistant which means that they do not decompose or change character even when exposed to variations in temperature.

Resistance to Stain, Chemicals, Detergents and Dirt

The quartz material used in these sinks is highly resistant to any kind of staining or damage due to exposure to household chemicals or acidic cleaning agents leaving the sinks look the same for years to come.

100% Neutral in Contact with Food

These sinks are 100% neutral to food contact which means, even if the food is placed directly on the drainboard of the sink, no contamination will occur, ensuring hygiene.

Anti-Bacterial Properties

Owing to the inherent properties of Quartz, Lithos sinks repel dirt and ensure that no germs penetrate it, giving them anti-bacterial properties that provide for a safe and hygienic solution.

Resistance to Scratches

Lithos sinks are scratch-resistant, giving you one reason less to worry about the meticulous upkeep and to enjoy hassle-free cleaning. So, even if sharp objects accidentally drop onto these sinks, they won't leave any unsightly marks.

Resistance to Sunlight and UV Rays

These sinks, even under harsh UV lighting conditions, won't lose or fade colour, thanks to the material composition of quartz.

Easy Care & Maintenance

Crafted with ingenious water and dirt repelling agents, these sinks ensure your kitchen stays impeccable with minimal effort.
